

Midtown Crossing Update: New Nightclub, Prairie Life Membership Drive

As the completion of Midtown Crossing at Turner Park gets closer, the Destination Midtown electronic newsletter will provide regular updates about this exciting new development.

Glo to Open at Midtown Crossing

Coming soon to Midtown Crossing is Omaha's newest premier lounge, Glo. Located just inside the new Marcus Midtown Cinema and featuring second story views of Turner Park and downtown, Glo will be a unique, upscale destination in Midtown Omaha.

Featuring cocktails, a wide selection of micro-brews, imported and domestic beers, a world-class wine list and snacks and appetizers, Glo will be the ideal place to meet up with friends, get together with colleagues after work or enjoy a date night. Featuring state-of-the-art LED lighting and overstuffed leather furnishings, Glo will serve up an atmosphere that's contemporary with a hint of retro.

Prairie Life Fitness Center

Prairie Life Fitness is kicking its membership drive into high gear.

Stop by the Midtown Crossing sales office in the Mutual of Omaha Bank building (3333 Farnam St.) to meet club manager Carrie Hoops and learn more about the new Prairie Life. Office hours are Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and noon to 4 p.m. on Saturday.

Opening in November, the new 31,000 square-foot Prairie Life Fitness will feature a full-service health and fitness facility complete with indoor running track, cycling studio, mind-body studio and numerous group fitness and personal training opportunities. Your membership gives you access to all of Prairie Life's Omaha locations.

If you can't stop by in person, visit <http://www.prairielifitness.com> or contact choops@132.prairielifitness.com at (402) 691-8546 for